FARMERS MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Address By Leading Farmers
Calling Meeting To Discuss
Tobacco Situation.

Attention Farmers!

Realizing that on account of the fearful war now being waged among the countries of Europe, which are the principal purchasers of our dark tobacco, that the tobacco market is in an unsettled condition and the purchasers of our tobacco are as much in the dark as to what price to pay for same as we are as to what price to accept, and realizing that the prices that are now being paid for the tobacco that has been placed on the market are below the cost of production and suicidal not only to the tobacco growers but to the material welfare of our county, and believing that if we exercise a little patience and hold our tobacco until the market for same becomes more settled, that we will obtain a fair price for our tobacco; we the undersigned farmers and tobacco raisers of Christian county, at a meeting held at the offices of Johnson & Wright, in Hopkinsville, Ky., Monday, Dec. 21, 1914, to discuss ways and means by which we might check the sacrificial sales now being made of our tobacco, until such times as the buyers of same want it and are willing to come to our barns and inspect our crops and offer us a fair and remunerative price for same, hereby call a meeting for all the farmers of Christian county and our sister counties, to meet at the Avalon, over T. L. Metcalfe's Green House, on the corner of Seventh and Liberty streets, in the city of Hopkinsville, on Tuesday, Dec. 29th, 1914, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of devising ways and means of holding our tobacco until we can obtain a fair price for same.

This is a matter of vital importance to us all and every farmer in the county and surrounding counties is urged to be there, and every community is urged to have a meeting before said date to talk the matter over and send delegates to said meeting.

Our crop of tobacco is at least 40 per cent short of an average crop.

It is at least 40 per cent better grade than an average crop. It has cost at least 40 per cent more to raise than an average crop.

Why should it sell for 100 per cent less than an average crop?

Self-preservation is the first law of nature, so come to the meeting. If you think you are bound to sell, stop and consider whether it is better to go on short rations for a few months or to practically give your tobacco away and starve for the next twelve months.

Belva a Married Woman.

Frieda Schubert Southers. That's the real name of "Belva Brown," the girl whose identity has been sought for a month by people of St. Matthews and Anchorage, by whom she has been sheltered. She is the daughter of Louis Schubert, of 346 West street, Elyria, O., and the wife of Stanley Southers, of Cleveland. Her husband has been heard from and says she must be insane.

The first quarterly meeting of the Hopkinsville Circuit will be held at Vaughan's Grove Tuesday Dec. 29, Preaching at 11 a. m., by Rev. T. L. Holse, presiding elder, and quarterly conference in afternoon.

EARLY SALES OF "THE WEED"

Veteran Explains the Ceremonies That Used to Accompany "the Tobacco Break."

"Never heard of a 'tobacco break?' observed H. C. Hunter, a veteran tobacco man of Lynchburg, Va. "In the early days all tobacco was transported in hogsheads. These hogsheads had shafts, and by the help of a horse or mule each hogshead rolled itself to market.

"The only Virginia markets for tobacco at that time were Richmond, Petersburg and Lynchburg. Each hogshead was listed for 'the break,' or sampling, for certain days in the week by private owners' marks. On the morning of the sale the hoops on each hogshead were loosened, and one head taken out. Then came the 'break.' The head breakman wielded a large ax made for the purpose, and pried an opening. An iron break stake, like a crowbar, was run into the opening, and sample bundles of tobacco drawn. There were never less than three 'breaks' made in a hogshead, and the samples drawn were taken as a fair indication of the contents.

"I have sampled many a hogshead of tobacco in this way. In those days the tobacco was sold over the hogshead, the sample being placed on top in full view."—Washington Post.

TRACE CAUSE OF PELLAGRA

Italian Scientists Assert That Dread Disease Is Due to Drinking Water From Clay Soil.

Professors Alessandrini and Scala of Rome have just published an elaborate illustrated report of their investigations into pellagra. They formulate two fundamental conclusions: (1) That pellagra is not dependent on a maize diet, and (2) that it is a disease strictly localized and limited to areas where water is drunk which has been almost exclusively in contact with a clay soil.

The clay contains silicic acid and in a colloidal state. Experiments on monkeys, rabbits, guinea pigs and puppies proved that the typical pellagra symptoms could be induced in them by the injection of colloidal silicic acid and that eating maize made no difference one way or the other.

The professors discovered that the effects of the silicic acid could be counteracted by subcutaneous injections of neutral citrate of sodium, and they cite ten cases of patients much benefited if not cured by daily injections of a ten per cent solution of trisodic citrate.

CHINA'S GREAT NEED.

China needs a weather bureau. There are at present practically no rainfall statistics for the river basins most subject to floods, much less any organization for flood prediction. Torrential rains sometimes occur in this region. In June, 1910, a local downpour in the vicinity of Szechow, lasting some forty-two hours, is estimated to have amounted to 24 inches. The unofficial meteorological service of Zikawei observatory, extending along the coast and up the Yangtse valley, is the nearest approach to a national weather bureau yet existing in China.

SPANISH WIFE OF INDIAN PRINCE

One the European potentates who will, it is whispered, attend the Panama exposition next year, is the maharajah of Kapurthala, India, who numbers among his princely possessions a beautiful Spanish wife. She was originally a dancer in Malaga when the prince saw her and married her, carrying her off to Paris to be educated, after which he built her the wonderful marble palace which is now their home. A beautiful sister of the princess married an American millionaire later.

MODESTLY RELATED.

"Was dat you dat th'owed Razor Jim out'n de meetin' las' night?" asked Miss Miami Brown.
"Yassindeed," replied Mr. Erasmus Pinky. "An' it was very good th'owin'. He done reach de middle o' de road in two bounces."
"What were de trouble?"
"Twere'n't no trouble. It were a pleasure."

Judge Reed's Dispatch.

They are still talking about the way Judge Bill Reed cleared the docket of jail cases while he was here substituting for Judge Hanbery one week while the regular judge was sick last fall. Judge Reed had a row of negroes charged with all kinds of minor offenses lined up and started in one morning to try them. As the cases were called, some pleaded guilty, others submitted their cases to the court without a jury and Judge Reed was making a record of one case about every fifteen minutes. Sam Fruit had a client somewhere in the line and during a lull in the proceedings, leaned over to Charlie Bush and said: "Say, Judge, when do you think he'll reach my nigger? I want to go down stairs for a book and I'm afraid he'll try my client while I'm gone."

The Quinine That Does Not Affect The Head Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE HOMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness nor ringing in head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of H. W. GROVE, 25c.

Unemployed at Church.

Fifty or more unemployed men attended St. Joseph's Episcopal church, St. Louis, in a body. Police were on hand to eject them but the preacher invited them in and gave the leader five minutes to state his views and then the minister preached on "The Common Task of Social Adjustment." There was no disturbance.

Whenever You Need a General Tonic Take Grove's

The Old Standard Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is equally valuable as a General Tonic because it contains the well known tonic properties of QUININE and IRON. It acts on the Liver, Drives out Malaria, Enriches the Blood and Builds up the Whole System. 50 cents.

War Mules.

Layne & Leavell are busy this week buying mules for the allies in the European war. They are shipped from here to Nashville for inspection and of the first lot of 25 all but one were accepted. The price paid for war mules is $150.
